

Big flavors for a small city

Easton’s legacy as an epicenter for local food dates to 1752 with the founding of the Easton Farmers’ Market (Saturdays, eastonfarmersmarket.com), the nation’s oldest continually operating open-air market.

The indoor Easton Public Market (Wednesday-Sunday, eastonpublicmarket.com) offers 14 artisan vendors offering up tacos, BBQ, ramen, pizzas, baked goods, chocolates, beverages and foodie-quality items like produce, meats, fresh fish, dairy, and much more. The West Ward Market (Wednesdays through September, westwardmarket.com) is a true neighborhood market west of downtown with fresh, local foods and community activities.

Over 30 diverse restaurants in the downtown area and another 40 citywide offer everything from fine dining to casual eats to authentic international cuisine. You won’t go thirsty either: six craft breweries, a winery, and two distilleries – plus a half dozen independent coffeehouses – also call Easton home. (shopdowntowneaston.com)

Boredom is not an option

Enjoy dozens of festivals and live events each year along our riverfront, in Centre Square and throughout the city. Our two-day PA Bacon Fest (November 4-5, pabaconfest.com) has over 150 food vendors and 15 musical acts plus family-friendly activities. Heritage Day (July, 9, heritageday.org) celebrates Easton’s important history and the diverse cultures that make it unique.

Live at the Falls (Thursday evenings through September, liveatfalls.com) presents fabulous free musical performances along the Delaware. Monthly Fourth Friday events (eastonoutloud.com) feature live music and shopping fun throughout downtown.

The holidays come alive at Easton Winter Village (Friday-Sunday, November 18-December 17, eastonwintervillage.com), Over 40 outdoor shopping spots, entertainment, a skating rink and more share the glow of Easton’s 106-foot Peace Candle and thousands of twinkling lights in Centre Square.

That’s on top of independent stores, gift shops, boutiques and galleries that line our streets year-round. Find special treasures and perfect gifts including fashion, jewelry, housewares, books, antiques, outdoor gear, artisan goods, food specialty items and much more.

Easton: Independent at Heart

Our lively city at the confluence of the Delaware and Lehigh rivers is built on history, art, food and music. From fantastic restaurants, shopping and attractions to dozens of events and festivals, Easton has everything for a truly memorable visit.

As one of only three spots where the Declaration of Independence was first read aloud in 1776, Easton embraces its independent spirit to this day. We're a haven for free-thinkers, artists, entrepreneurs, community-minded folks and anyone looking to find inspiration in the reverberations of the past or the promise of the future.
